“ My dearest Red,

I still don't have the words for a world without you in it. It feels unreal, like I'm waiting for you to walk through the door, say something wise or funny, and make everything feel steady again. You were that for me—steady, strong, always there.

You weren't just my brother. You were my protector, my guide, my safe place. You gave so much of yourself without ever asking for anything back. That kind of love is rare, and I know how blessed I was to have it in you. You showed me what it means to care deeply, to stand tall, and to lead with heart.

I'm going to miss you in the quiet moments the most. The talks, the laughter, the way you just understood without me having to explain. I'm going to miss knowing you were there, no matter what life brought.

But even in this pain, I carry you with me. In the lessons you taught me, in the love you gave so freely, in the strength you showed every day. That doesn't go away. That stays.

I hope you knew how much you meant to me. How much you still mean. And how deeply you are loved.

*Until we meet again,
I'll hold you in my heart always.*

*With all my love,
Lynn*
