

Shirley Ann Pendleton

March 7, 1956 - March 12, 2012

Born in Oklahoma City, OK, Shirley was the daughter of the late Dink L. Pendleton and Rosita M. Ellison. However, she was reared by her aunt, Elizabeth Gray. Ms. Pendleton was educated in the public schools of Oklahoma and received a degree in Administration from Oklahoma Technical College. She was married to Sgt. William C. Drummond and to this union, four children were born. As a military wife, she and the children traveled the world before making South Carolina their home.

Faith Temple Holiness Church was her church home. Her favorite pastimes were spent shopping, gardening, cooking and spending time with her grandchildren. She retired from SC State Government and was proud of her Cherokee Indian heritage.

A son and sister preceded her in death but left to cherish memories are: her children, Quentin E. Pendleton, Tyrone (Shanta') Drummond and Sharlene Drummond; a special friend, Johnathan Young all of Gadsden, SC; one sister, Rebecca Denson; brothers, Robert, Lester, Eugene, Donald and Benjamin Miller all of Oklahoma City; eight grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends.
