Zy'ire Chrystopher Sanders, 15, was born May 30, 2006 in Columbia, South Carolina to Samantha Sanders and Christopher Shell. He departed this earthly life on Sunday, June 6, 2021 at Agape Hospice House of the Midlands.

Zyrie was an amazing child, full of life and loved helping others. He inspired others to be more caring and thankful for everyday of their lives. Despite all the things he endured, Zyrie still remained humble and kept a smile on his face everyday.

He loved everything about life, and everyone that were put in his life. Zyrie had the power to make you forget all of your troubles, because he was faced with a bit more than anyone could imagine. Zyrie loved cooking, and would sit for hours watching cooking shows so that he could think of new recipes and make new dishes. He also loved collecting and building anything you could imagine. Zyrie was a prime example of what greatness looked like and much more.

Those left to cherish his fond and precious memories are: his mother, Samantha Sanders and Step-mother, Clinique Goodwin; his sister, Samantha Sanders; brother, Amon Smith; grandparents, Teresa Sanders-Hopkins and Lyndon Hopkins; his nana, Ruby Anderson; aunts, Lakriesh Anderson, Monique Jackson, Naomi Roberts, all of Columbia, SC; uncle, Terry McGriff, of Charlotte, NC; and a host of other loving relatives and friends.

Please leave the Sanders family your condolences and prayers.

The Sanders family, acknowledges with grateful appreciation, all of your kind expressions of love and sympathy.

Thank you for helping us care for our families.

A. A. Dicks, Sr. and Staff.

“ Zy'ire, being your Elementary Physical Education was one of my greatest joys! Your smile seemed to always make everything seem okay!! Loved our hallway chats and laughter! I understand you asked about me even in your weakest moment. Just know that you were loved and your hugs meant the world to me!! Rest on sweet boy!!

“ Sweet Zy'Ire... As your third grade teacher, you made my life better with you being in it. Your sweet smile, your hugs...etc. You also had a sneaky side. You would hide and pop out after your name was called. You thrived off love and hugs. I gave hugs as much as I could.

For your big end of the year trip to Charleston, I made sure Wendy Williams, your former teacher, was the chaperone so you had the day with her. She's been your biggest fan.

The world is a little sadder without your bright smile and hugs. I'll love you forever.

“ I remember the time he was able to balance our plastic children's chairs on the table, with some chairs at an angle. They stayed up. I certainly couldn't balance them.

“ I had the enormous privilege of meeting Zy'ire and his brother Vijay at Prisma Health several years ago as a volunteer with Happy Wheels. I also had another connection with them through one of their most beloved teachers, Ms. Wendy Williams. I will always remember Zy'ire's beautiful smile and his capacity for joy, even when he was in the hospital. He was a shining light who made us all want to pass that joy and goodness on to others.

“ He was the most amazing, loving, caring, smart, talented young man that I have met. I have known him since he was born. A year ago we took him to Decker to this little carnival thing on this bouncy toy; at first he was scared to get in it but I literally crawled in it and told him to come on and nothing's going to happen to him. Once we got bouncing he had so much fun. I can still picture him smiling even though he couldn't do it for very long at least he did it and had fun. My husband still has the bow and arrow that he made for him he was amazed on how he made it. You will never be forgotten. You will always be in our hearts and soul we love you and we know you're up there with your brother right now looking down on us. Your mom was an amazing mom, Samantha Sanders ;this woman will do everything and anything for you kids but she knows that you're watching down on her. Even though I can't imagine how hard it is but you are truly an angel and we love and miss you so much
